

WILL THE SILVER MEN UNITE?

Four years ago the independent citizens of Nevada disavowed their allegiance to the Democratic and Republican parties, with which they had been affiliated for years, because of their perfidy to silver, and organized a new party whose principle object was to secure free coinage. The Silver party, as it was named, sent representatives to the Omaha Convention. It was not then known what position the Omaha Convention would take on the silver question and the delegates were left free to use their own judgment, the understanding being that they would participate in the proceedings if the platform declared for free coinage. They were received with open arms at Omaha. No objection was made to the name of the party which they represented. The nominees of the Convention, General J. B. Weaver, was endorsed by the party and received the electoral vote of the party for President. Two years ago there was a schism in the silver party, some say in the interest of the gold men, and though both wings professed to be for free coinage and other reforms, two State tickets were put in the field. Though this divided the silver forces and gave the opposition a great advantage, one faction of the silver men carried the State.

Now the gold men will do all in their power to divide the silver forces throughout the country in the Presidential campaign. Though the contest in reality is between the single and double standard system, the goldbugs and the silverites, some people think more of party names than of party principles, and in consequence of this idea there may be two silver candidates in the field for President. The Silver Democrats claim that they will have a majority in the Chicago Convention, in which event the gold men will doubtless bolt. The Silver men will then nominate a free coinage man on a free coinage platform, but whether that nominee will be acceptable to the National People's party and National Silver conventions which meet in St. Louis on the 22d instant remains to be seen.

Under these circumstances the only thing for the silver men of Nevada to do, whether they have affiliated with the Silver party, the Populists, the Republicans or the Democrats, is to watch and wait. United they are invincible; divided into two or three factions, each with an electoral ticket in the field, they might be defeated. The Democrats could not hope to win without the assistance of the Silver or People's party, nor could the Democrats and People's party combined carry the State against the Silver party upon the basis of the vote of the last election. Union is therefore essential at St. Louis and if it is effected there is no good reason why the silver men of all parties in the State should not meet in convention, nominate a union ticket and elect it by the largest majority ever given in Nevada.

The masses of the people of Nevada are vitally interested in the financial question. Not only the welfare of the individual citizen, but the very existence of the commonwealth depends upon its correct solution. With the steady decline in the value of property, while there is no decrease in taxation, the problem of maintaining a State Government confronts us. Neither the ambition of individuals, nor the sophistry of place hunters should divert the people from this condition. Every intelligent person knows that the adoption of the single gold standard has not made the country prosperous. On the contrary it is not painfully apparent that it has depreciated the prices of real estate, labor and the products of labor, and the end is evidently not yet, as everything, except gold, depreciates as the purchasing power of that metal appreciates. Therefore, the man who attempts to create dissensions in the ranks of those who favor free coinage to further personal ends or for alleged attachment to a party name must be considered a public enemy.

GOVERNMENT RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.

The comparative statement of receipts and expenditures issued by the Treasury Department shows a balance on the wrong side for the fiscal year ended June 30th. The receipts from all sources were $326,189,226, and the expenditures $352,231,470. This leaves a deficit of $26,042,244 for the fiscal year. The receipts from customs duties were $160,534,951, and from internal revenue $165,654,264. Each was less by over $11,000,000 than the Secretary's estimates, though the total receipts show a total gain of $12,900,000 over 1895. The pension payments amounted to $139,494,046, a reduction of nearly $2,000,000 from 1895, and the interest payments increased during the year $4,250,000.

The appropriations made at the last session of Congress for the fiscal year commencing July 1st, amounted to over $518,000,000. As the revenue from the sale of public lands is inconsiderable, at least one half billion dollars a year must be raised from internal revenue and the duties on imports for the support of the Government. Of this vast sum over one-half must be collected at the custom houses or there will be a deficiency. A tariff for revenue must, therefore, necessarily be a high tariff, considerably higher than the present one, and it should be more equitably distributed. A moderate tariff on wool and sugar, both necessities of life and now on the free list, would increase the revenue sixty or seventy millions a year, but neither a prohibitory tariff nor free trade would relieve the country unless there is a change in our financial system. With wheat, cotton and corn selling at the cost of production, with labor a dollar a day, and employment scarce at that price, the masses of the consumers cannot afford to purchase high-priced articles and under-consumption will affect the tariff receipts. While the country is on a gold basis and not gold enough in the country to pay the interest on public and private debts, a deficiency seems inevitable, unless everything is taxed, and only those with fixed incomes, and they are comparatively few in the West, can afford to indulge in anything more than the ordinary necessities of life. Give the people opportunity to get money by making money more plentiful and they will not grumble if they have to pay a higher price for what they eat and wear.

GOLD MEN MAKING TROUBLE.

The Executive Committee Intend on Nominating a Temporary Chairman at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 2.—It is not yet determined whether the Executive Committee will assume the responsibility of naming a man for Temporary Chairman of the convention. That matter is still under consideration. The decision to recommend this course has been arrived at, not in defiance to the request of the silver men, but because it is in accordance with precedents. Still there are evidences that the committeemen prefer to take the chances of an open fight in the convention to submitting tamely to what they look upon as an unjustified effort at dictation.

There is no doubt that if the full National Committee accepts the recommendation it will precipitate a lively skirmish on the floor of the convention on the threshold of its proceedings. The silver men show no disposition to yield unless a pronounced and well-known silver man should be named by the National Committee, which thereby reason to believe will not be done. If a gold man is selected, the silver minority of the National Committee will bring in a report recommending a silver man, and the first contest between the gold and silver forces will be fought out then and there.

It has been intimated that in case affairs reach this stage Chairman Harkness will refuse to order a general roll call and will arbitrarily seat the gold candidate. The silver men refuse to believe that he would pursue such a course, but shake their heads ominously when asked what would result in case that he should.

THE USUAL WAY.

HILL WILL NOT BE Temporary Chairman.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Senator Hill of New York will not be Temporary Chairman of the Democratic National Convention. The silver leaders almost unanimously declared that the temporary organization must certainly be controlled by the majority of the convention. Senator Blackburn said today:

"Hill would undoubtedly make an important Chairman, but he is allied with the gold forces and it would be a round-about way of procedure for us to turn over to the minority of the convention its organization. It is not to be supposed that the majority are going to jeopardize their chances."

The Executive Committee of the National Democratic Convention have decided to recommend to the full committee to proceed in the usual way to designate the Temporary Chairman of the National Convention.

Death of a Pioneer.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—G. C. McKibben, a California forty-niner, died here last night. He was well-known to public men. He lived in Washington many years and made considerable money in the steamboat excursion business.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The propriety of holding a silver caucus at Chicago is seriously discussed by the free coinage delegates.

There is no change in the situation at the Twinn Shaft mine at Pittston, Pennsylvania. There is no hope of saving the entombed miners.

A large crowd assembled at Richmond, Virginia, yesterday, it being the sixth annual reunion of Confederate veterans. The corner stone of the Jeff Davis monument was laid. There were 12,000 veterans and 80,000 visitors in the city.

The Sonora stage was stopped and robbed by a lone highwayman, seven miles from Knight's Landing, California. The robber held a six-shooter to the driver's head and ordered him to throw out the express box. The driver complied, and the robber called for the mail pouch, but he received only the way pouch.

The gold standard Democrats headed by W. C. Whitney left New York yesterday for Chicago. There are a large number of guests, among whom are United States Senators Smith of New Jersey and Gray of Delaware, and ex-Governor Russell of Massachusetts.

Whitney says they go as Democrats desirous of doing the best they can for the party and the country.

Senator Teller was given an ovation upon his arrival from the East at Denver. There was a general outpouring of the people from all parts of the State. The demonstration was participated in by all classes, and persons of all political beliefs, and it is doubtful if such enthusiasm was ever equaled in the West.

All was quiet at the Berea stone quarries, Ohio, yesterday, but one of the strikers who was shot in the fight died. There was a riot at the Brown hoisting works and William Rector was shot and killed. The works are surrounded by six or seven thousand people, and all the Cleveland police are at the scene. The Fifth Regiment has been called out to suppress the riot.

Governor Altgeld of Illinois says the free coinage men will control the convention, and he is in favor of closing up the business in a day, if possible. The gold men want to procrastinate and divert the platform from a straight 16 to 1 declaration to some sort of a straddle or compromise. He does not want the position of temporary or permanent chairman of the convention, his only desire is to see silver win.

For a year or more the Clerk of Fresno county, California, on the advice of the District Attorney, has collected $2 for filing complaints, and like sums for records preliminary to a trial and during the progress of the trial. In one case $150 was charged altogether. Judge Garber has decided that $2 dollars can be charged only for filing the suit, and the county will be compelled to refund several thousand dollars to litigants.

Yesterday during the progress of the Lillian Ashley suit against E. J. Baldwin in San Francisco, Emma Ashley, a sister of the plaintiff, fired at Baldwin, but missed him. The plaintiff was on the stand under cross-examination, Emma rose from her seat carrying a small bag and walking behind the chair in which Baldwin was seated, took a revolver from the bag and placing the muzzle within a few inches of Baldwin's head tried to pull the trigger. She had to use both hands and no one knew of Baldwin's danger until they heard the report of the pistol. She tried to fire a second shot, but was disarmed. She is supposed to be insane.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with additions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

It was suggested last night that it would pay the Corbett and Sharkey managers to purchase the old prison walls and enclosed land from the State and convert the space into an amphitheatre. The suggestion is a good one, and it might be a splendid opportunity to turn a comparatively useless and expensive piece of property into money and help the State Treasury. It is a matter worth consideration.

THE BOLLERS.

What the "Silver State" Says of Them.

There are many people in the State who to-day applaud the actions of the delegates to the recent Republican National Convention that bolted, who, in 1892, could not find language strong enough to use in condemnation of the action of men who that year bolted Harrison. While possibly the platform was not as strongly gold-coated in 1892 as it is this year, every person who kept in close touch with the leaders of the Republican party knew in his own heart that the Republican party was as strongly opposed to the free and independent coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 or any other ratio than as now.

The Silver State does not mention this with any intention of disparaging the action of the St. Louis bollers, for we honor them for their brave course, but we do say that it took more bravery to surrender party in 1892, than in 1896.

Then the outcome was more problematical than now—then to bolt was considered a political and social crime, while now it is considered patriotic and quite the fashion. Take for instance the Democratic National Convention in 1892: Hon. Thos. M. Patterson, editor of the Rocky Mountain News, published in Denver, representing his State upon the Committee on Platform, after being defeated in committee, introduced a minority report favoring the free coinage of silver upon the floor of the convention, and, although he had been a Democratic leader for years, had served his party in the halls of Congress, and is one of the most eloquent speakers in the Nation, was booed down and virtually hooted out of the convention. We say that it took more bravery for Mr. Patterson to take the stand he did in '92, single-handed as he was, than was exhibited by the Republican bollers in 1896.

The Silver State, however, believes in extending the hand of welcome to every sincere bolter who desires to work in the interest of silver, no matter whether he is a pioneer or eleventh hour convert. There is plenty of room for all, and there should be no quibbling over the length of time between the old love and the new.

Night Have Been More Serious.

Chas. Ordway was quite seriously injured yesterday morning while crossing the Virginia & Truckee bridge. It seems he was out for a walk and while crossing the bridge his dog jumped in front of the engine of the approaching local. Mr. Ordway tried to drive him off the track with his cane, and his attention being directed entirely to the dog he did not realize how near the engine was to himself, and before he was aware of it was struck violently on the hand, cutting an ugly gash and severing an artery. He was soon under medical treatment, but nevertheless lost a great quantity of blood. While the cut is a painful one it is not serious and will soon heal.

Hardly Know Where to Go.

Renoites were speculating last evening where to spend the glorious Fourth. Wadsworth, Truckee, Virginia and Gold Hill all offer inducements, but money is scarce and many felt that the wherewith was not comfortable. Many, however, will visit our sister town Wadsworth, and they may be assured of a good time. The majority will remain at home and put in the day quietly and simply kick at the hard times that prevents a celebration at home.

Will Celebrate.

The fire boys have demonstrated their patriotism by stretching a streamer of bunting from the top of the tower on the engine house to the belfry at the other end. Lee Havoroff and Jim Carroll have purchased a bunch of fire crackers and a box of torpedoes and will give a grand pyrotechnic display to-morrow evening. In order to further entertain the spectators Jim Carroll will sing the "Star Spangled Banner," and will perform some new tricks on his bike.

Bound for Chicago.

The California delegation to the Chicago Convention passed through yesterday morning. They occupied a special car on which was a banner bearing the device "Democracy and Prosperity." A number of shining lights of the Democratic party of California were among the delegates. There were a good many people on the platform, but there was little enthusiasm and no demonstration.

A Popular Resort.

Reports from Lake Tahoe last evening came from authentic sources that the hotels at different points on the lake were crowded with guests and a perfect jam is expected for the 4th. The season promises to be a profitable one and as a resort the lake bids fair to vie with the most popular seaside resorts of California for the summer.

A Search Light at Tahoe.

The electric search light on the new steamer Tahoe was tested on Wednesday evening. It will be a feature and afford much pleasure to evening excursionists. The effect on the beautiful mountain lake at night would doubtless be not only grand but weird and mysterious as it is flashed into the dark recesses of the timber adjacent to the lake.

CHANGING PULPITS.

Rev. Mr. Bready Goes East and Rev. Mr. Lee Comes to Reno.

An exchange of pulpits has been arranged between Rev. J. A. Bready of the M. E. Church here and Rev. Fred. C. Lee of Three Rivers, Michigan.

Mr. Bready will leave here next week and Mr. Lee will arrive next Monday or Tuesday, and will preach a week from next Sunday.

Mr. Bready has filled the pulpit in the M. E. Church here for nearly five years. He is a gentleman of more than ordinary ability, and by his departure the conference loses one of its ablest men.

Mr. Lee is a popular lecturer and preacher. The Detroit Free Press says he is a young man and has the desirable faculty of leading a peculiar charm to all that he says and does. The Detroit Tribune says his voice, gestures, and of thought, language and delivery, all seem to approach those of the ideal modern preacher.

Death of an Old Resident.

Mrs. J. A. Williams, after a long illness, died at 2 o'clock this morning.

While her death was expected by her husband and friends, it came in the dreary hours of the night, and was a shock to all. She has borne up bravely against suffering and has hoped against hope that she might again be well. She was ever ready to minister to the comfort of others and has been a faithful wife.

Her only son, Charles, better known as "Beach," died about four years ago and his loss was a severe one to his parents.

Mrs. Williams has grieved greatly over his loss and it nearly broke her heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams were among the oldest residents of Reno and had many friends. The sympathy of all will go out to Mr. Williams in this, his hour of sorrow for in his declining years he feels that he is alone indeed and the home of his old age is desolate.

Mrs. Williams was a member of the Woman's Relief Corps, also of the Episcopal Church. The funeral will probably take place on Sunday.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 189 Florida St., San Francisco.

The baggage men at Reno and Wadsworth have received orders to check all bicycles for the members of the L. A. W. to Wadsworth and return on the 4th inst. It is expected that nearly all the members will go from here.

Mrs. Sol Levy and family and Mrs. Henry Morris left for Carson yesterday morning en-route to Lake Tahoe, where they will take a cottage during the season. Their sister Mrs. Cohn of Carson, and her family will accompany them.

Judge Hubbard of the Superior Court, San Francisco, recently gave a heavy judgment against Alvin Hayward and H. M. Levy. He has now, after hearing arguments, denied a motion for a new trial, and the case will go to the Supreme Court.

The Star Baseball Club of Virginia arrived on the V. & T. last night, en route to Wadsworth, where they will go this morning. The following compose the combination: F. O. Desmond, S. G. Moore, J. V. Bennett, Frank Carrao, W. Dexter, H. J. Merkle, W. Lichtenberg, W. Cavanaugh, D. Hoskins, J. Kennedy and E. Perrow. They all registered at the Hotel Reno.

O. Olston of the Pyramid Reservation arrived in Reno last evening after having made the trip from the Reservation to Reno, thence to Carson and Lake Tahoe, across the lake on the new steamer to Tahoe City, from there to Truckee and back to Reno. He rode the whole distance on his bike, except the steamer trip across the lake.

A committee appointed by the silver delegations to Chicago, had a conference with Chairman Harberty of the National Committee, and the Executive Committee, and are not at all satisfied with the result. They asked to practically name the temporary chairman of the convention, but the request was not granted. They are of the opinion that there is a disposition on the part of the National Committee to select an anti-silver man for temporary chairman, and not announce his name until the very eve of the convention.

A BROKEN FRIENDSHIP.

It Was Terminated by a Bullet in a Frontier Town.

It was in the early days of a town in southwestern Kansas. The deadly "45" was the most respected law of the place, and daily and nightly, in the half dozen saloons which the embryo city supported, were congregated as rough a set of men as could be found in any town of the size west of the Mississippi, spending their time in gambling and carousing.

Monarch of all the roughs was Ed Prather. He had eight notches in the handle of his trusty .45, signifying that by his hand eight human beings had been sent to their long home. Prather's bosom friend was Billy Wells. He, too, was a "bad man" in the western acceptance of the term. Damon and Pythias were not more fraternal than these two dependences. When one was seen, the other was always near. If one got into trouble, the other was always on hand to assist him.

The tragic end of this friendship came one summer morning. Prather had just successfully "stood off" a sheriff and his posse, and the crowd of roughs was congregated in his saloon, congratulating him, drinking to his health and celebrating the occasion by filling themselves up with what is known in western vernacular as "40 rod," preparatory to terrorizing the town. Suddenly Prather drew his revolver from the scabbard, and saying, "Boys, watch me put a hole through Billy's hat," fired.

There was a yell of agony, and Wells fell to the floor wounded to the death.

"My God, have I killed him?" were Prather's first words. Then, throwing down his revolver, he sprang to the side of the wounded man, just as the last quiver came over the prostrate form and the soul went to render its account.

For the first time in years a solitary tear coursed down over the hardened features of the man whose hands were now stained with the blood of a fellow creature, but, ashamed of the emotionary evidence of emotion, he hastily brushed away the tear, and turning to the bar called, "Drinks for the crowd."

And the carousal went on.
This was one more chapter added to the history of frontier life.—Detroit Free Press.

AN INDIGNANT FISH.

One Burglar Deprived of Its Prey by the Reckless Interference of Another.

While the burglar, known also as the cannibal, is not altogether a bottom feeding fish, still it feeds mostly on the bottom, taking whatever it can find there, nipping the heart off a clam when it is a chance, and not neglecting the worms of many kinds which find a home there.

There were two burglars in a tank at the aquarium. One day a neris showed up at the bottom of the tank along with the burglar. The neris is a marine worm that lives at the bottom. This particular neris might have been three inches in length by an eighth of an inch in diameter. One of the burglars saw it as soon as it lifted its head above the bottom, and he began to make for it at once, but not precipitately. In fact, he did not seem to notice the neris at all.
He just loitered about in the water, and it just happened apparently that his general movement carried him in that direction.

The neris was probably looking for food. Gradually it raised its head and it was half an inch above the sand. The burglar, which had started a foot or more away, was then within six inches of it. Then the burglar made a dash for it. This particular burglar made a dash for it. There was nothing for the first one to do now but to make a rush for it too.
The two burglars met head on with their noses right over the pebble along side which the neris had raised its head, but the neris had disappeared.
The force of the collision threw the first burglar off his balance. For a moment he lay in the water at an angle of 45 degrees, but he righted himself quickly and instantly started for burglar No. 2, and chased him round and round the tank and finally up into a corner, where he held him for a minute, and then he swam solemnly away, indignant. It is doubtful that the reckless interference of the other had cost him the prey, but so carefully planned to take.

It may be well to remark that the cannon law does not prescribe that the pope must be cardinal, or even a cleric.
Nevertheless, since the election of Urban VI in 1378 the successful candidates have belonged to the members of the Sacred college, although as late as 1758 a noncardinal was voted for several times. At least two laymen—John XIX (1024) and Adrian V (1276)—have cooped the papal throne, and there is today nothing to prevent laymen from being created cardinals, although they are not entitled to vote in the conclave unless they can produce a special permit from the late pope. Up to the meeting of the conclave of 1833 Cardinal Albani had never taken orders, and there is still some doubt as to whether he did so fictitiously.—William R. Thayer in Century.

A Public Penitent.

"My friend," said the solemn man,
"have you ever done ought to make the community in which you live the better for your living in it?"
"I have done much, sir," replied the other humbly, "to purify the homes of my fellow beings."
"Ah," continued the solemn man, with a pleased air, "you distribute trunks?"
"No. I clean carpets."—London Tit-Bits.

North Carolina in colonial days was called the "Old North Colony," and the name, with state instead of colony, has

Early Mention of Tobacco.

The first account in which the tobacco plant was minutely described was sent from Haiti to Peter Martyr in the year 1496—400 years ago exactly—that by Hernandez de Oviedo, the man who introduced tobacco culture into Spain.
In 1561 Nicot, the man for whom nicotine, the active principle of tobacco, was named, brought it under the notice of Catherine de Medici, to whom he presented some plants grown in his own garden from seed brought over from Florida. Nicot appears to have been the first European to use tobacco as a medicine, proof of which may be found in Arber's reprint of the famous tract issued by King James, and which bore the title of "A Counterblaste to Tobacco."

The very earliest detailed account of the tobacco plant in the English language is by Mr. Arber (mentioned above), bearing date of 1572.—St. Louis O.—"Yes, he's a wonder," said he in speaking of the tough boarder. "One Sunday we had turkey and green peas and some other unusual items for dinner. This fellow came in and when the landlady asked him what he wanted he looked over the table and says, 'I guess you can give me a thigh of the eagle, a little of the nest and a few of the shock.'
She didn't know what he was talking about. He wanted a leg of turkey with dressing and gravy and some of the green peas."—Chicago Record.

"Catarrh" "Cures" or Tonics for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain either Mercury or Iodine of Potassa, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat.
Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow; seven-pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and sometimes an offensive discharge. The remedy should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.
